Irene is the Past President of the Australian Association of Gerontology Victoria, Associate Editor of Elsevier Primary Care Diabetes journal and on the Editorial Board of Geriatrics journal. She has a medical background and is a health services researcher with significant expertise in designing and conducting pragmatic trials of complex multifactorial health services.

There are two major research streams to her work on chronic diseases and ageing, united by a focus on the implementation science of complex multifactorial intervention across the community, primary and secondary care settings drawing on both qualitative and quantitative research methods. She has attracted over $40M in research funding and published 150 reports and journal articles including as a first author in the British Medical Journal and Medical Journal of Australia. Her current research focuses on improving access to care delivery for older people with complex chronic conditions. Her research interests include dementia, diabetes, chronic disease, primary care, digital health, geriatric medicine, and rural health.
MOVIE
Saturday, 27th May 2023 | 11.15 to 11.45 | Main Conference Room

11.15-11.45 Keys Bags Names Words, which premiered in March at Creative Brain Week 2023, follows a cohort of young scientists, artists and policy experts from around the world who tackle the greatest global challenge for health and social care in the 21st century: dementia and brain health. With creativity, humor and compassion, they shift the narrative of dementia from fear and hopelessness to one of hope and action.

Produced in partnership with the Global Brain Health Institute, the film shows intimate profiles of people living with dementia and their care partners, featuring discussions with doctors on how to support brain health and prevent cognitive decline. An inspiring celebration of the strength of the human spirit, this film affirms that we can reduce our risk of developing dementia and look forward to aging — that those with dementia can improve symptoms, have a voice and live a higher quality of life — and that their care partners can connect meaningfully with loved ones who may have forgotten them.

KEYNOTE FORUM
Saturday, 27th May 2023 | 11.45 to 12.15 | Main Conference Room

11.45-12.15 Professor Linda Clare

(Professor of Clinical Psychology of Ageing and Dementia at the University of Exeter Medical School, United Kingdom)

“Living Well with Mild-to-Moderate Dementia”

Linda Clare is Professor of Clinical Psychology of Ageing and Dementia at the University of Exeter Medical School. Trained as a clinical psychologist, she leads the University’s Centre for Research in Ageing and Cognitive Health (REACH). Her research aims to improve the lives of older people and people with dementia through a focus on living well with dementia, developing rehabilitative approaches to optimise independence, and supporting family care. This includes the IDEAL longitudinal cohort study, an Alzheimer’s Society Centre of Excellence, which investigates what helps people with dementia and family carers to live well with the condition. Linda has published over 300 peer-reviewed journal articles and book chapters. She is an Editor for the journal Neuropsychological Rehabilitation and a Fellow of the British Psychological Society, the Academy of Social Sciences and the Gerontological Society of America. In 2004 she received the May Davidson award from the British Psychological Society for her contribution to the development of clinical psychology in the UK. She was awarded the degree of Doctor of Science in 2015 in recognition of her work on awareness in people with dementia. She is registered as a practitioner with the UK Health and Care Professions Council.
